

GEN. JOHNSON SAYS:

Private Capital Must Get Busy

By HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Economists say that the recent slump in business is due to a cessation of government spending, and that the stock market crash was due to that slump.

They say that private money seeking investment is not coming out to replace public money spent for so-called capital or heavy goods—meaning more or less permanent construction, like houses and factories—things not consumed as fast as made.

Nearly all economists agree that you can't have prosperity, which is more than a flash in the pan if it is built merely on increased production and sale of consumer goods alone. There are several reasons for this, some of them fairly technical, but both theory and practice prove it.

What does all that add up to mean? That private money must get busy and invest itself in the kind of work in which employment so heavily depends, or that public spending by billions must go on, or that we are reaching the brink of another depression.

The latter two of these alternatives are impossible. We have spent so much already and the public debt is so large that the President has said that deficits and further debt must stop. They threaten, some kind of and large. PWA is closing up. Continued public spending for heavy goods is out.

We can afford a new depression. We weathered the last one without political upheaval because we had not hit the present state wall limit on public spending. What could we do now about new millions of unemployed?

It is Hobson's choice. Private money must get to work. It isn't working when it is tied up in government bonds. It is paying for dead horses. It is only working when it is out in industry, commerce, mining and agriculture producing things. This is the only way to make employment except the "made work" of public spending when it is at an end.

There is plenty of private money. It is dammed up in idleness by the billions. Why doesn't it go to work? The answer is clear. The government won't let it.

The federal undistributed profits tax prevents a man from building up a new business out of profits. He must distribute all he makes to his stockholders, or pay a prohibitive tax. He can't borrow to build because the tax won't let him pay back out of profits. He must distribute his profits. Result? No private money going to work in expanding enterprise.

The income tax does the same thing on another front.

Bay State G. O. P. Enthused Over Hoover Talk

Address Made Hit With Voters, Say Party Heads

Stomped with telephone calls all during the day, Massachusetts Republican club officials to the demand that former President Hoover speak again, this time regarding the New Deal "made it with the Republican vote in the state."

The annual meeting of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, held at the Hotel Lincoln, was held last night. The club's executive committee, headed by the club's president, Mr. J. W. Sullivan, reported on the club's activities during the year.

Mr. Sullivan said that the club's main objective was to keep the Republican vote in the state. He said that the club's members were very active in this regard, and that the club's efforts were very successful.

Mr. Sullivan also said that the club's members were very active in the state's political affairs. He said that the club's members were very active in the state's political affairs, and that the club's efforts were very successful.

Politicians Suspect Hoover Is Eyeing 1940 Nomination

IMPORTANT To Labor and to the Public

cause it indicates "the change in the character of the debt which will occur during the year."

He reports that there are included in the EXPENDITURES for 1938 "INVESTMENTS IN SPECIAL GOVERNMENT OBLIGATIONS IN THE AMOUNT OF $75 MILLION DOLLARS."

In addition, contributions to be made by the states to the unemployment trust fund will LIKEWISE BE INVESTED in special government obligations in the net amount of 500 million dollars."

The simple summary of all this is that the money raised by taxes on wages is being SPENT BY THE GOVERNMENT AS FAST AS IT COMES for current running expenses, and special government bonds are being PUT IN ITS PLACE.

Now a government bond is not MONEY. It is a PROMISE to pay money at some future date.

And the ultimate payment depends on the ABILITY AND WILLINGNESS of the government to pay WHEN THE TIME TO PAY COMES.

ALL this is of the utmost importance to the wage earners paying the tax, because they will have Social Security in fact ONLY IF THE MONEY IS AVAILABLE TO PAY OLD AGE BENEFITS WHEN THEY ARE DUE.

It is a grave gamble with this fact when the money for Social Security is spent for OTHER THINGS, and the risk is run of having questionable IOUs instead of money in the till when benefits are to be paid.

For the government's bond is nothing else than its IOU.

Every study made of the old-age reserve fund points to its dangers.

The survey of the Hearst commission revealed it will eventually be composed of obligations against the government ENORMOUSLY EXCEEDING THE PRESENT NATIONAL DEBT.

Obviously, the mere existence of such tremendous tax surpluses as will go annually into the reserve is an invitation to BORROWING AND SPENDING that would otherwise never be contemplated.

The commission's sound recommendation for restricting the reserve fund to a small margin would seem to be a badly needed safeguard.

During the last presidential campaign it was repeatedly charged that taxes out of wages would be SPENT and bonds SUBSTITUTED.

It was said that unemployment and Social Security taxes so used would be JUST ANOTHER TAX to provide SPENDING MONEY—WASTING MONEY, for the government.

This was called POLITICS at the time. The President's budget statement indicates it is now FACT.

The process of SPENDING THE MONEY raised for these special funds IS NOW IN ACTUAL OPERATION.

Herbert Hoover, former President of the United States, urged a "fusion and coalition" of the two of the Massachusetts Republican Club last night. He was photographed as he left Mechanics Building following his attack on the New Deal.

'Happily Wed,' Windsor Says In Speech

Hits Speculation Over His Plans in Talk To Newsmen

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS—The Duke of Windsor, who has been in London since his abdication, said today in a radio broadcast that he was "happily married" and that he was "not planning to leave England."

The Duke, who was married to the Duchess of Windsor, said that he was "not planning to leave England" and that he was "happily married." He also said that he was "not planning to leave England" and that he was "happily married."

At the same time, the Duke said that he was "not planning to leave England" and that he was "happily married." He also said that he was "not planning to leave England" and that he was "happily married."

Seven-night American and British correspondents, most of whom were in the Duke's presence, said that they were "not planning to leave England" and that they were "happily married."

"I don't think there is anything to fear in a time when you are on friendly terms with the lions," the Duke responded with a smile.

VOLUNTEERS STEEL
The Duke said:

"When Mr. Philip invited me to the luncheon on your behalf I accepted with pleasure, but with the stipulation that I should not be called upon to make a speech."

"However, in the light of recent press comments, I have, with your chairman's permission, called upon myself to make a few words."

"There do not concern public affairs, but are of a personal nature and I wish first of all to thank you for your hospitality and for the nature of the invitation."

"When Mr. Philip originally asked me to speak the following words: 'At all times and in all circumstances, you have shown such understanding of and tolerance with those working men, women and children who are in the front line of the struggle for peace, that I am sure that your association with them will be of great benefit to the cause of peace and to the cause of the British Empire.'"

RAIS SPECULATION
"I can assure you that I appreciate these sentiments, a great deal, but at the same time, this promise me to speak to you in the important gathering of British and American journalists, and to say that there have been occasions when very spirit of understanding mentioned by Mr. Philip has, I regret to say, not always been reciprocated by the British press."

"All of you are familiar with my statement to the press of last June in which I have promised to have the press in advance of his movements in order to have a better understanding of the situation and to have a better understanding of the situation and to have a better understanding of the situation."

"I naturally am not criticizing anyone present, but I am pointing out the fact that the British press has been in a state of confusion and that the British press has been in a state of confusion and that the British press has been in a state of confusion."

"Our visit to Germany has been interesting and we are looking forward now to our tour of America and to further opportunities of making a study of the methods which have been adopted in leading countries in the world in dealing with housing and industrial conditions."

"In this connection, I would like to make it perfectly clear that in any journey I have undertaken, or may plan in the future, I do so as a private individual observer, without political considerations of any kind or kind and entirely on my own initiative."

"You all know the circumstances that led up to the events of last December and the forces which influenced by final decision. I am a very happily married man now, but my wife and I are neither content nor willing to lead a purely inactive life of leisure."

"We hope and feel that, in due course, the experience we gain from our travels will enable us to give fair treatment to the most serious contribution as private individuals in solving of some of the vital problems that beset the world today."

Nazis Ban Book
BERLIN, Oct. 27 (AP)—The first German newspaper, the Berliner Arbeiter-Zeitung, announced today that it was withdrawing its subscription to the book "The Duke of Windsor," published in Amsterdam, has been banned in Germany.

Mystery 'Ghost' Cards Shown at Vote Trial

Election Board Will Bar All Checkers At Voting Places

Two cards signed by Charles Town clerk, shown at trial today, were mysteriously added to the tally sheet from the year, it was testified at the trial of James J. Murphy in municipal court today.

Meanwhile, stating a copy of the tally sheet, the Boston election commission announced that no checkers will be allowed to use the cards at voting places from this time on.

While the commission explained the ruling was adopted to prevent the "ghost" cards from being used at the election, it also stated that the commission had decided to prevent the use of the cards from determining what persons have not voted at any particular time.

The commission promised to take every precaution to prevent a "ghost" card from being used at the election. The commission stated that the cards will be checked by the election board before being used at the election.

The commission also stated that the cards will be checked by the election board before being used at the election.

BLENDED WHISKEY

Whitey Smell—he's 87 but still recollects happenings way back!

Whitey Smell is a great one for telling olden stories he's picked up from time to time and telling you just what each little souvenir is in token of. This snap here shows Whitey having trotted out sort of a picture they used to take long ago. Tom's posing through the trunk and dug up some badge or other Whitey got handed to him for posing up with the Kiski Valley Volunteer Firemen I think he said it was.

Only the town's oldest inhabitant recollects when Our Family began distilling!

and you're getting Our Family's own personal whiskey recipe!

So far I've never yet found a solitary person that isn't agreed concerning our own Family's Recipe being about the mildest and tastiest he ever took a swallow of. That is providing he's ever had a taste of it. Of course there's some that never yet got to try The Wilken Family Whiskey so you can't count them in.

But here's what a lot of folks just can't make out for the life of them. They can't figure how it should be that this whiskey that's selling so reasonable should be so extra mild and tasty. Well maybe they don't know there's 3 whole generations of experience back of that tastiness! Only the oldest inhabitant in our town can recollect back to when our family first started up distilling. I'd like awfully well for you to try it sometime soon!

Quinn's Suit For $500,000

Governor Refuses Arrest; Turfman Freed in $7500

By JAMES J. DELANEY
Boston Evening American Staff Correspondent

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 27.—Hardly had Walter K. O'Hara been released in $2500 bail today in a new $500,000 civil suit, brought by Governor Robert H. Quinn, than O'Hara turned around and brought a $500,000 libel suit against the governor.

Although Kent County Sheriff Thomas Barry said O'Hara had given him a writ of arrest to serve on Governor Quinn, the governor declared he would not accept service.

"It cannot be served on a governor," Quinn asserted, "but a writ of summons can be served."

COMMIT TILA
Meanwhile, on a petition brought by the governor's counsel, the Providence Tribune Company, publishers of the O'Hara paper, the Star-Tribune, were cited by Judge Charles A. Walsh in Superior Court to appear in that court at 10 a. m. tomorrow and show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt.

The petition was based on a paragraph in a special edition of the Star-Tribune following O'Hara's arrest of last night.

It is alleged in the contempt petition that the paragraph was false and that the publisher, William O'Hara, had been arrested three times after being held prisoner all night in his hotel room.

His arraignment in the new criminal action by Governor Quinn brought a rebuke to the publisher from Judge G. Frederick Frost in Kent County superior court. Realizing work for bringing his title of governor to rest.

"Mr. Quinn is just a citizen of the state of Rhode Island," declared Judge Frost, "and his governor and other titles are outside the court. Before this court both men stand equal."

"If the day comes when titles do make a difference in a court of law, the Democratic government is gone."

Judge Frost made his statement after Governor Quinn's counsel, Maurice De Courcey, chairman of the state public utilities board, had defended "fundamental law" to prevent O'Hara leaving the state.

JAMES F. SPLAINE

MARY SPLAINE

"We've got to stop this man (O'Hara)," declared De Courcey. "We've got to stop him from talking. We've got to stop his press and I insist on substantial bail to prevent this man from leaving the state."

"It seems to me that all the efforts of Mr. Quinn appear to have been directed to driving him out of the state rather than keeping him in," retorted the judge.

"It seems inconsistent that Mr. Quinn stands before the court now and says that he wants substantial bail to keep him in the state."

Judge Frost then set $7500 as the bond and Paul Norcross as the surety for return of the warrant.

That was furnished by Miss Clara M. Jackson, who O'Hara's wife said is his landlady in Dudley avenue, Providence.

O'Hara had been arrested three times after making a radio address last night.

The Narragansett Press head in its radio news had called Quinn a "murderer" and had attacked his action in driving the new law from a declaration of martial law.

Miss Margaret Splaine

Somerville Man Wins $50,000

The $50,000 windfall added to the other prize money, brought a total of $100,000 in one sitting.

AMONG $50,000

It is worth of "All the money in the world," said Mr. Splaine, "but to the Boston Evening American that has been paid in the morning, the day after the drawing."

"I'm thousand? Oh, that isn't much."

He said he did not know in what way he would use the money. He was making any plans and he will see the results of the drawing.

He said he was going to keep it for a while. "I'm feeling it up. This certainly is a great break for me. I'm going to pay all my bills. Then I'm going to keep it for a while."

He hasn't planned any trip yet. "We'll just wait and see. But gee, I can't see any more now. I'm so happy."

GIRL DELIGHTED

But 22-year-old Margaret Splaine, sister of the winner, was not so enthusiastic when informed of the news in a telephone conversation. "I'm not sure I can understand it," she said.

"What?" she cried. "That's what I want to know. What's a surprise? That's what I want to know. That's what I want to know. That's what I want to know."

Hurley Renames 2 to State Jobs

Governor Hurley today submitted two reappointments of state officials to the Governor's Council for confirmation.

Albert M. Fleming of Springfield was reappointed trustee of the Northampton State Hospital and Timothy W. Fitzgerald of Barnstable was reappointed director of the Department of Mental Diseases. The council will act on the appointments until the meeting next Wednesday.

The Council took no action on the judicial appointments recently made by the Governor, since the terms of the judges have not yet expired.

Covadonga Takes Turn for Worse

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 27 (AP).—The condition of the Count of Covadonga, ex-vice-consul to the throne of Spain, has taken a turn for the worse, his secretary, Jack Fleming, revealed today. The count, a victim of hemophilia, has suffered a third hemorrhage this time in the left leg, and a third blood transfusion may become necessary, Fleming said.

Urges War Policy Of Washington

Foreign entanglements, tardy action under the terms of the peace treaty, naming of aggressor nations in current conflicts are all part and parcel of a new unimpaired policy in international affairs, in the opinion of U. S. Senator James J. Davis, Republican, of Pennsylvania.

Following the war-time question of the Boston Evening American to members of Congress, President Roosevelt's "peace speech" at Chicago placed Washington at the center of the world.

The cardinal principle of foreign policy for the United States should follow the injunction of George Washington that we seek our independence of action. But should war be against partition or in aid of partition of Nations.

Our national interests are not identical with those of the powers to justify surrendering.

SHOULD U. S. CHANGE ITS FOREIGN POLICY?

Subsequent to President Roosevelt's Chicago speech, advocating a "quarantine" of warlike nations, the Boston Evening American asked Senators and Representatives, by telegraph to answer the following seven questions.

1. Do you think United States should abide by its historical policy and keep free from league of nations or do you think new conditions make new policies necessary?
2. Do you think United States should act with one-power treaty, treaty and take sides in present foreign conflict?
3. Do you think United States should be with League or combination of foreign nations and resort to force or to hostile acts to repress war?
4. If the United States is to participate in foreign wars or else, should the United States by itself determine which nation is the aggressor in the policy, or in the Pacific?

In the Far East, we have acted too late. But to resort to acts of force and hostile acts towards war.

Moreover, population pressure is exceedingly heavy in these poverty-stricken lands. There are 700 people for every square mile of arable land in Japan, as compared with two in the United States and six in the Soviet Union.

The powers that oppose them have available funds to permit necessary expansion of these overpopulated nations. They are not attempting to pay. They cannot pay in gold and we do not want their goods. They could pay in currencies, which we would be free to distribute to the impoverished nations of the world.

'Why I Should Be Elected'— Tobin Explains Platform

Youthful Candidate
Recalls Dream
Of Boyhood

This is the first of five articles on 'Why I Should Be Elected' written especially for the Boston Evening American by the leading mayoral candidates. Mr. Tobin appears first because his is the first name on the ballot. Mr. Curlew's will be printed tomorrow, Mr. Santos' on Friday, Mr. Nichols' on Saturday and Mr. Foley's on Monday in the order of the ballot.

By MAURICE J. TOBIN

It is a dream of boyhood to become a mayor. I remember when I was a boy, I used to look up at the mayor's house and wonder what it was like. I used to think that I would like to be a mayor when I grew up. Now, I am a candidate for mayor, and I am proud to say that I am the first name on the ballot.

Tax Items

Up Faster Than Gross

Boston Edison Also Shows Operating Expense Gain

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW

When the total of federal, state, county and city taxes taken nearly 30 cents of every dollar in gross revenue secured by a private enterprise in the sale of its product or services to the public is reformer to the most ardent advocate to the detriment of private enterprise.

The situation outlined above which has been the subject of comment yesterday on the law of diminishing returns is not something that we are accustomed to see. It is the actual experience of one of New England's largest corporations to date the year of 1937, and the 12 months ending Sept. 30, 1937, the first time that the corporation, of which that had to be set aside for the first time since the year 1936, has reported an increase in the cost of service at the same time the necessary tax increases have been made.

It is not necessary to give any figures other than those above to clearly demonstrate the law of diminishing returns as the law of diminishing returns is concerned. When Mr. Conover's statement is studied further all doubt is dispelled because his report shows that operating expenses, such as wages, fuel and materials, were increased at the rate of 10 percent of 1936, and the increase of $400,000 in business volume was more than offset by increased expenses and taxes amounting to $400,000. This is the experience of the third quarter and any further increase in the cost of service will result in a loss.

Those who believe in the law of diminishing returns are preaching a philosophy which is not only a distortion of the law of diminishing returns, but is also a distortion of the law of diminishing returns. The law of diminishing returns is a law of nature, and it is not a law of man. It is a law of nature, and it is not a law of man. It is a law of nature, and it is not a law of man.

An expert yesterday in this paragraph, the stock market recovery has carried prices back to the point where they were in the technical recovery. The first attempt to overcome the downward trend lines and the last recovery high points set in a collapse that began in August, 1937. It now remains to be seen whether the market will force a reversal of the broad downward trend. The point would mean the continuation of the pattern which has held since the beginning of the month. Again it should be noted that the extent of the decline in prices as well as in time, argues for a successful extension of any new wave of liquidation.

Wheat Prices Tumble at Close

CHICAGO, Oct. 21 (AP)—Liquidation and stop loss orders that followed moderate upturn in wheat prices today tumbled the market down more than 2 1/2 cents in the late dealing.

The bread carried Chicago May wheat contracts to within two cents of the season's low price record. A contributing factor was the fact that the premium on top grades of Canadian wheat were lower four cents a bushel today.

U. S. Steel's Stress Flexible Wage, Price Policies

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—The stock market drifted lower today after moving irregularly through the morning.

U. S. Steel's stress on flexible wage and price policies was a factor in the market's decline. The company's new policy was announced yesterday, stating that it would no longer guarantee a fixed wage rate for its employees.

The market's decline was also influenced by the news that the Federal Reserve Bank of New York had raised its discount rate to 3 1/2 percent.

Right Note Is Struck by One Company

Tidewater Has New Progressive Plan For Coming Year

By R. C. FORBES

The right note was struck at a large gathering of the sales representatives and dealers of one important corporation (Tidewater Oil) this week.

President K. L. Shea announced that the directors and management had decided to institute a still more progressive program during the coming year. Had money been spent freely in the past, and in improving the products that might otherwise have been considered, and that other things would be done which would be of benefit to the company.

He added that the company had never, in its history, been so successful as it was in the past, and that it had been able to do this by the progressive plan which it had adopted. He said that the company had been able to do this by the progressive plan which it had adopted.

Haney Disagrees With Sprague On Inflation

Still Maintains It Exists and Will Increase

By LEWIS HANAY
(Professor of Economics, New York University)

It is not necessary to agree with Professor O. M. W. Sprague that there is an inflation in the United States, but it is necessary to agree that there is a tendency toward inflation. The question of inflation is not a simple one, and it is not necessary to agree with Professor Sprague that there is an inflation in the United States, but it is necessary to agree that there is a tendency toward inflation.
